PRESENT FUTURE

7613

SIX TOUGH QUESTIONS FOR THE CHURCH

McNeal, Reggie

Jossey-Bass, 2003

BOOK

In The Present Future, McNeal identifies the six most important realities that church leaders must address including: recapturing the spirit of Christianity and replacing "church growth" with a wider vision of kingdom growth; developing disciples instead of church members; fostering the rise of a new apostolic leadership; focusing on spiritual formation rather than church programs; and shifting from prediction and planning to preparation for the challenges of an uncertain world. McNeal contends that by changing the questions church leaders ask themselves about their congregations and their plans, they can frame the core issues and approach the future with new eyes, new purpose, and new ideas.

NEW FACES OF CHRISTIANITY 7688

BELIEVING THE BIBLE IN THE GLOBAL SOUTH

Jenkins, Philip Oxford University Press, 2006 BOOK

The author shows that throughout the global South, believers are reading the Bible with fresh eyes, and coming away with new and sometimes startling interpretations. Some of their conclusions are distinctly fundamentalist, but Jenkins finds an intriguing paradox, for they are also finding ideas in the Bible that are socially liberating, especially with respect to women's rights. Across Africa, Asia, and Latin America, such Christians are social activists in the forefront of a wide range of liberation movements. Anyone interested in the implications of these trends for the major denominations, for Muslim-Christian conflict, and for global politics will find The New Faces of Christianity provocative and incisive--and indispensable.

Leadership: Lay Ministry

BORN OF WATER, BORN OF SPIRIT: SUPPORTING THE MINISTRY
OF THE BAPTIZED IN SMALL CONGREGATIONS 7629

Kujawa-Holbrook, Sheryl A. & Fredrica H The Alban Institute, 2010 BOOK

The authors explore the variety of ways people in small congregations -many with no more than fifty members - are living out their baptism and the impact their actions are having on their congregations, judicatories, and communities, and the institutions that educate clergy. The authors argue that just because a community cannot pay a seminary-trained minister - a growing problem in remote regions - it does not mean that there is no ministry there. It does mean that we need to look at ministry and the church in a more expansive way.

Sanders, Marthame & Elizabeth Salt Films, Inc., 2005 DVD

Salt of the Earth is a film in nine chapters. Marthame and Elizabeth Sanders lived in the mostly Christian Palestinian village of Zababdeh from August, 2000, through December, 2003. Volunteers with the Presbyterian Church (USA), their ministry was one of ecumenical support to the Church in the land of its birth. Salt of the Earth documents the lives of nine Palestinian Christians living in the northern West Bank. This film grew out of a desire among their Palestinian neighbors to share their stories, and a desire among Christians in the West to hear them. The Sanders describe the project as "a labor of love, a response to the graciousness, warmth, hospitality, and welcome we received from our Palestinian neighbors and colleagues." Available on-line are an overview and Study Guides for Sunday schools, Bible Studies, and small groups.

	BUSINESS OF THE CHURCH						7630
	Wimberley, Jr., John W.			The Alban Institute, 2010		BOOK
	The uncomfortable truth that faithful ministry requires effective management. The book begins with a foundational discussion of how a systems approach helps congregational managers identify areas of dysfunction and effective solutions. Managing the critical "inputs" of people, facilities, and finances has a direct bearing on the desired "outputs" of proclamation, pastoral care, and mission. A strategic plan, through which a congregation sets its goals and identifies and prioritizes resources, is an essential management tool for both pastors and lay leaders.

Authors Larry Golemon, Lee Ramsey, Graham Standish, Tim Shapiro, Carol Johnson, Mike Mather, Niles Elliot Goldstein, and Diana Butler Bass examine this question from a variety of perspectives, including the role of the pastor or rabbi as narrative leader, the sacred and mundane stories that shape congregational life and identity, storytelling as a means of community building, and story sharing as a practice of hospitality.

PASTORAL FORMATION

Golemon, Larry A., ed. The Alban Institute, 2010 BOOK

The Narrative Leadership Collection. Teaching Our Story is based on the premise that as congregations become intentional story-forming communities, they can shape the lives of millions of generative, faithful, and civic-minded adults. To do so, a framework that relates narrative work to the full range of congregational life is needed. This book offers such a framework, featuring essays that examine crucial shapers of narrative, outline a course in preaching that addresses crucial questions for today's church leaders, illuminate the creative power of listening to the collective stories of a faith community.

PREACHING THE OLD TESTAMENT 7689

A LECTIONARY COMMENTARY

Allen, Ronald J. and Clark M. Williamson Westminster John Knox Press, 2007 BOOK

Preachers often neglect the Old Testament, misrepresent it, or regard its theological content as superseded by Jesus and the New Testament, Allen and Williamson claim. The authors help preachers avoid these traps by (1) explaining how a text was understood before the Common Era without any reference to Jesus or Christian doctrine, (2) mentioning representative New Testament passages or themes that are informed by the older material, and (3) commenting briefly on the relationship between the lections in those cases when readings from the Old Testament are paired with readings from the New Testament.

PROPHETIC PREACHING 7679

A PASTORAL APPROACH

Tisdale, Lenora Tubbs Westminster John Knox Press, 2010 BOOK

The author considers these vexing questions while providing guidance and encouragement to pastors who want to recommit themselves to the task of prophetic witness. With a keen sensitivity to pastoral contexts, Tisdale's work is full of helpful suggestions and examples to help pastors structure and preach prophetic sermons, considered by many to be one of the most difficult tasks pastors are called to undertake.

IN GOD'S PRESENCE: ENCOUNTERING, EXPERIENCING, AND EMBRACING THE HOLY IN WORSHIP 7634

Standish, N. Graham The Alban Institute, 2010 BOOK

Standish advocates what he calls an "integrated" approach to worship, one that maintains the distinctiveness of each element of worship as a counterpoint to other elements. He first explores the problem of worship in the current church. Then he looks at ways to reconceive worship with an emphasis on restoring the Holy to worship. Finally, he looks at ways to lead a congregation to consider new ways of worshipping. This book is about how to open people to an encounter with the Holy in worship, how to follow God in this pursuit, and how to lead those who have no interest in the Holy.
